

Qori Inti

The Qori Warmi Cooperative in Peru is located in the middle basin of the Apurimac River, specifically in Pichari Cusco, Valley of the Apurimac, Ene and Mantaro Rivers (VRAEM).

Pichari Cusco, Valley of the Apurimac, Ene and Mantaro Rivers (VRAEM), a territory that combines areas of three regions in southern Peru (Ayacucho, Cusco and Junín).

three regions in southern Peru (Ayacucho, Cusco and Junín). This area is a territory that combines ecological levels ranging from 400 to 3,000 meters above sea level, and is home to an enormous ecological and geographic diversity that is very ecological and geographic diversity, rich in flora and fauna of the high jungle, close to the OTISHI National Park, the ASHHAR Reserve the ASHANINKA Reserve, which together with the Megantoni National Park, form the nowadays recognized by UNESCO, the Avireri Biosphere Reserve (crbav.com) and at the same time the area is considered a center of origin of native cocoa beans.

of origin of native Chuncho and local Criollo high mountain cocoa beans. The territory also combines two millenary cultures which are the original Amazonian native communities such as the Ashaninka and Ashaninka and Matsiguenga and the cultures of Andean origin that colonized this valley, both coexisting with their customs and languages and languages (Quechua, Ashaninka and Tasiguenga) that together produce the valley's biodiverse cocoa the valley's biodiverse cocoa.

The cooperative Qori Warmi (Quechua word that means: Women of Gold), has 80 members (all women), who work approximately 200 hectares of land women), who work approximately 200 hectares of cocoa, where high-quality protocols are applied through controlled post-harvesting and through controlled post-harvest, which has led to obtaining awards in the last 5 years.

Qori Inti and Qolque Killa, which come from the Quechua language and mean "Golden Sun" and "Silver Moon", are the trade names of Gano and and Bellavista cocoa, respectively; unique varieties of fine aroma cocoa were selected and propagated by farmers in the selected and propagated by farmers in Valley and the cooperative has managed to place them in the special market due to their high quality. the special market due to its high quality of aroma and flavor and awarded at the Peruvian, American, and world level with gold, silver and silver medals. World with gold, silver and bronze medals.

Bellavista cocoa, respectively.

The fine flavors and aromas of Qori Warmi cocoa from the upper Amazon of mythical Cusco have a complexity that blows on the palate. Qori Inti comes with floral hints of chamomile summer breeze and the sweetness of ripe mango and peach spiced with tones of freshly ground nutmeg and once in chocolate, bright green apple cider, kumquat (Cherry orange) liqueur and coffee blossom honey keep the complexity going.

Quality - Taste Notes

green apple cider, kumquat liqueur, coffee blossom honey

summer chamomile, ripe mango and peach, freshly ground nutmeg tones

1.23
gr/bean
Bean size

68%
Well fermented
beans

20%
Semi fermented
beans

0%
Defects

117°C
28'; -
Roasting conditions

Harvest

Processing

Varietal composition: VRAEM-99
(20% lila; 0% white)

Pulp pre-conditioning: /

Fermentation method: wooden boxes, linear type, handmade

Pre-drying: 24h; 8-6 cm

Drying: 5 days diamond meshes (solar)

Generals

Producer: COOPERATIVA AGRARIA AGROINDUSTRIAL QORI WARMI
Coordinates: 12° 30' 09.95" S 73° 52' 15.57" W
Availability: ~ 120 MT/year
Contact: eisla-sanchez@lwr.org
Phone: +51-995401200